Bringing Something New

The ryokan that preceded Hanamurasaki, Yamadaya, was established in 1902 with its own hot spring baths. That was rare at the time (guests of other ryokan frequented the public hot spring at the center of town), so Yamadaya became a popular destination. Since then, we've continued to innovate and adapt our hospitality to changing times.

A Land that Embraces

を育んできました。

It is said that the historic figure Gyoki discovered Yamanaka's hot springs over 1300 years ago by following purple clouds trailing in the sky. The hot spring became known for curing all kinds of ailments, so travelers came from far and wide to bathe in the healing water. Since ancient times, the town of Yamanaka Onsen has welcomed people from many cultures.

これからも、新な文化を育み、伝えるという

In 1984 Yamadaya was rebuilt in our current location, and renamed Hanamuirasaki. The name Hanamurasaki is related to the idiom "Sanshi Suimei," which captures the fleeting beauty of natural scenery — a once in a lifetime encounter with a moment in nature. It expresses our connection to Yamanaka's history and landscape. We continue to nurture and pass on culture.

A Place to Share

Our sabo, or tea room, is a special place where guests can peacefully commune with themselves and others. We offer a selection of teas, including sencha, Japanese black tea, Kaga bocha (a local variety of roasted twig tea), and even tea cocktails, all served using one-of-a-kind tea utensils created in collaboration with artists. We hope to create a moment of connection through our unique modern style of tea experience.
